

NEITHER SEE CLAIM FOR VICTORY AS YET, OPINION OF OFFICIAL NEWS BUREAU

Although News to Hand Appears Favorable to Allies Little is Heard of the Enemy's Progress—Russian Army From East is Emerging and Will Likely Soon be Heard From—German Failure in Western Theater of War is Described as Success for Allies.

London, Aug. 22.—If the news of the Russian victory, which comes from many sources to be true, Austria-Hungary, which must be reeling under the crushing blow delivered by her ally, will need every available man.

The Russian army on the eastern frontier of Germany gradually is emerging from the mist and these forces will soon demand more attention.

The official press bureau this afternoon issued a warning to the public to bear in mind that for practical purposes almost all information concerning the purposes and operations comes at present from the side of the allies. The official statement continues:

"Very little filter in from Germany and Austria by channels of neutral countries, but sufficient does filter through to indicate that the enemy has succeeded in various quarters, particularly in the western and eastern theaters of the war. It should be further remembered that these campaigns have been carried out on an enormous scale and that a majority of the operations which already have taken place can only in their perspective be classed as instances of minor importance.

No achievement on either side deserves to be called a victory. The Business Conditions Are Normal Declares Prominent Merchant

J. Downey, in charge of the credit department of the A. Macdonald company, limited, related yesterday from Port Arthur where he attended a meeting of the managers of the various banks of the city, that business conditions are normal. He was taking care of his customers, as far as credits are concerned, in the same manner that he has been doing for many years. The letter which was sent out by the banks' association in the United States, which stated that it was the general opinion that the trade is in excellent condition to stand any pressure that may be brought against it.

Mr. Downey gave a vigorous protest to the letter to the association by the Edmonton jobbers' association a few weeks ago, which tended to cut off credits to the business of the country. He contended that the business of the country is approaching a most critical position.

"We are going through a serious financial crisis," said Mr. Downey to the

SAN FRANCISCO FAIR WILL OPEN AND CLOSE ON DATES FIRST NAMED

San Francisco, August 22.—Charles C. Moore, president of the exposition, has notified the world, in response to inquiries from participants all over the globe, that the great Pan-American exposition will start, as originally announced, on February 20, 1915. That the fair would be started on time, that it would not be affected by the war in Europe, and that it would be an international exposition in every sense of the word, was in effect, the announcement of President Moore.

Every possible obstacle in his way of the exposition's success was considered and dismissed as an insufficient reason for postponement.

The added attendance in South and North American tourists, due to the fact that they would not tour Europe with the war going on, would offset the falling off in attendance from the old world was pointed out.

The probable effect of the great international conflict on state and foreign exhibitions was sounded, and the feeling of the American tourist toward the fair was considered.

And from the findings of these investigations President Moore issued his statement of facts to the world. He announced, in a concise declaration, that the war would not affect the exposition from either commercial, educational or financial viewpoints, and that, as was at first announced, it would open on February 20 and continue to December 4 of next year.

GERMANS INSIST ENGLAND CAUSED ALL THE TROUBLE

Papers Declare Kaiser Tried Maintain Peace Until Last Minute

(Capital Leased Wire.)

Berlin, Aug. 22.—A laconic despatch of seven words announcing the entry of Germany into Brussels is the only news regarding the occupation of the Belgian capital yet published here.

The military authorities are contenting themselves with a brevity of announcement surpassing that said to have been employed by the late Field Marshal Von Moltke.

Berlin papers express admiration for the swiftness of the German advance, but make no comment on the German tactics. They occupy themselves almost solely with the correspondence between Prince Henry of Prussia, King George and Emperor William, which was exchanged just before war was declared and was published for the first time yesterday.

The papers are unanimous in the opinion that these documents, with the despatches exchanged by Emperor of Russia and the German emperor prove completely that Germany, until the last moment, sought her utmost to maintain peace with Russia and France.

Germany, it is declared, desired to prevent war with France, and sought only a guarantee of French neutrality. England, however, refused to help in obtaining such guarantee, and therefore it is reason England in the first place was the cause of the war between France and Germany.

The Japanese charge d'affaires is still in Berlin. The commandant of Alsace Lorraine, declaring that traitors have tried to use telephone lines, has issued orders that any persons found making improper use of the telephone shall be immediately shot. Two more French guns have been brought to Strasbourg.

PRICE OF MEAT IN PARIS LOWEST IN TWENTY YEARS

Paris, Aug. 22.—(4:40 a.m.)—Cheap living is an anomaly of the present situation in Paris. Meats today sold at the lowest prices in twenty years at the central markets; vegetables were cheap. This in spite of the fact that some merchants have raised their prices at the risk of boycott and prosecution.

Mr. Downey advised business caution, but not to the extent creating any undue uneasiness.

GERMANY PEEVED AT ENGLAND ACCEPTING JAPANESE SUPPORT

London, Aug. 22.—(9:30 a.m.)—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Rome says that according to messages from Berlin, the Berlin press is indignant at Great Britain's acceptance of Japanese support. GERMAN WNER IS LEAVING U.S. WITH BIG COAL SUPPLY

British Ambassador at Washington Objects to Her Departure

ALLEGED BRADENBURG IS AN AUXILIARY CRUISER

Captain Dietrich Attached to Navy Has Been Placed in Command

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—Loaded to the limit with coal food supplies, the North German Lloyd steamship Bradenburg is steaming down the Delaware river bound for Bergen, Norway. This is the destination given in the clearance papers, and the captain says the journey will require about two months. Despite the protests of the British ambassador in Washington, who declared that the Bradenburg is an auxiliary cruiser of the German navy, local customs authorities gave her clearance papers. Naval sources believe the vessel must proceed slowly down the Delaware river, and when she reaches the Atlantic coast, 160 miles away, her three mile limit until a favorable opportunity is presented for a dash seaward. The Bradenburg is slow, and her only chance for safety lies in protection by German cruisers.

When the Bradenburg sailed her appearance was changed so that old mariners failed to recognize her as the same vessel. Her buff color had been painted black and palms had altered the appearance of her hull. In her hold were 2,500 tons of coal, an additional 1,000 in her bunkers, and between decks were stored 2,400 tons of supplies said to be mostly foodstuffs.

Luxuriously appointed staterooms were loaded to their fullest capacity with coal, and the air of merchantman and passenger boat which she formerly possessed was gone.

It was stated that prior to the departure of the vessel Captain Schmidt was superseded in command by Captain Dietrich, an officer from Berlin. Captain Dietrich is attached to the German navy auxiliary. He commanded a Japanese warship during the Russo-Japanese war and took part in the siege of Vladivostok.

As soon as the Bradenburg started down the river, both the captain of the Bradenburg and the German consul at Philadelphia denied that the Bradenburg was going to the relief of the German cruisers.

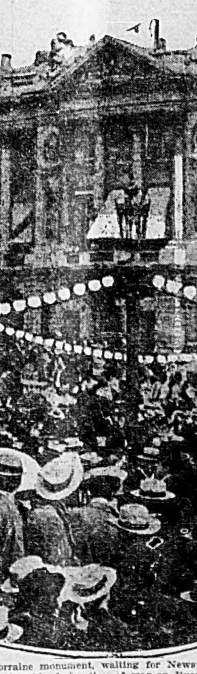

Clearance Papers Refused.

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—Clearance papers were refused the steamer Mazatlan today by order of the treasury department at Washington. The Mazatlan is a German owned and is laden with coal originally bought by the German consulate here for delivery aboard the German cruiser Leipzig, at sea.

Foreigners' Lives in Danger—
Dutch Government Takes Measures for Protection

(Capital Leased Wire.)

London, Aug. 22.—(12:30 p.m.)—The correspondent at Amsterdam of the Reuters Telegram company has sent in the following account of the present situation at Liege which he obtained from the Rotterdam Courant, which in turn got the story from its correspondent at Maestricht:

The firing of a shot from a private house on the Quai des Pecheurs in Liege yesterday was "the signal for widespread bombardment and arson on the part of the German army of occupation, the Maestricht correspondent says."

"The situation of the population of Liege became extremely perilous. Immediately the shot was fired the Germans opened up with their machine guns, destroyed 20 houses and killed the inmates of ten other houses."

In addition to the war tribute of $10,000,000 levied upon the province and Liege, the German army administration has seized this amount of cash in private banks.

All citizens have been ordered to hand over their arms and at the same time, the peasants have been invited to return to the country and begin harvesting.

The lives of foreigners in Liege are in danger. There are a great many Dutchmen in Liege and the Dutch government is taking measures for their protection.

In the conclusion the correspondent says that Prince Kille Frederick, second son of Emperor William, has left Liege.

Fought Against England In Boer War, Leaves For Front With Local 101st

At Fifteen Years of Age Sam Anderson Resisted Britishers at Spion Kop, Lost Home and All Family—Now He Leaves to Fight Side With Men Who Were Formerly Enemies.

Seated in the dining room of a local hotel, Sam Anderson, a recruit of the 101st told a pathetic story with a smiling face, to a Capital representative today, of how he came to fight against the British in South Africa, of his coming to Edmonton after the war where he got a good position, and he volunteered a week ago to fight for the cause of the Motherland.

With his father, mother and three brothers he lived on a farm in the Transvaal not far from Spion Kop when the war broke out. They were comparatively well fixed and had a goodly number of cattle. He was only 15 years of age at the time, but with his father and brothers he slung a rifle on his shoulder. The first engagement he was in was at Spion Kop, where his father and three brothers were all killed and he was wounded.

For many days he lay unconscious, and when he regained his senses he found himself inside a British hospital. After the war he went back to where his home had been situated. There was nothing there. The house had been razed by fire and all the cattle commandeered by the British. He could not, and up to the present time has not recovered from the loss of his father and mother. He thinks that the loss of her husband and children may have provoked such a blow that she died from its effects.

"I had no money," he added, "and I did not know what to do. I managed to get down to Cape Town where I stowed away on a South American boat. I worked as cabin boy on that trip. I managed to get up to Vancouver from there, and eventually made my way to Edmonton where I got a job at the penitentiary where I have been working now for some time.

This will be my last war. If I get through alive I am going to South Africa and make another hunt for my mother."

The simply told story had its effect on the listeners, most of whom were members of local regiments. One of the men was an old English soldier, who now a member of the 19th. He went through the South African campaign and was twice a prisoner of the Boers at Spion Kop. "Sy, Cronje," he said shaking hands with Anderson, "himme!" were heard and said, "but we are friends now, Shale!"

And they shook.

Still, though, he did make me fellows run one or two times did not we?" asked the cockney.

"The old English soldier, Anderson, "but from your own yarn we managed to catch you at Spion Kop."

Pathetic Scenes When Mothers and Wives Say Good-bye to Sons and Husbands—Streets Lined With Citizens Who Applaud Men Representing City's Gift to the Empire.

Thirty thousand people lined the thoroughfare from Fourth street west to Ninth street and at the C.P.R. station this afternoon to witness the departure of the troops of the 101st Regiment who left by special train for the east.

Shortly after the noon hour the troops began to assemble at the corner of Fourth street and Athabasca avenue, until at three o'clock the regiment was practically at its full war strength of 400 men. All was bustle and bustle as the last preparations were made in uniforms, canteen and kit-bag. Columns after columns of the khaki-clad soldiers lined the street its full width, and brightly uniformed officers shouted their orders to a battalion of Edmonton volunteers for the front.

The parade was headed by the newsboys' band and wended its way to the Ninth street station, where a special train of twelve cars stood waiting. As the parade started their march west along Jasper street, they were given a step by the side of their sons, who they will possibly never see again. Mothers with their little boys, the 101st Regiment a last, loving farewell to a father who has been called to do his duty for his country and King.

At the station the greatest scene of all was enacted. Cheer after cheer rang out for the Edmonton soldiers and last farewells were said. When the train pulled out, a mighty cheer rent the air, and Anderson's gift to the empire had been made.

Members of the 15th Alberta Dragoons leave Sunday by special train over the C.P.R. Their horses have all arrived, but will be here some time later. Major Anderson, president of the 101st will remain in the city a few days, attending to the getting away of the remainder of the regiment, who were unable to join the ranks Saturday.

GRAND FAREWELL TO SQUAD BOYS AT THE PRINCE OF WALES

Members of 101st Regiment and 19th Dragoons are Guests of Manager Gill—Stirring Address by Hon. C. R. Mitchell—On Eve of Departure Men in Khaki are Given Royal Reception.

With an outburst of patriotism and a song which will live in the hearts of the sons of Edmonton, even through the clash of arms on the battlefield, the 101st Alberta Dragoons and the 19th Regiment Edmonton Fusiliers were offered an ovation at the Prince of Wales theater last night. The boys in khaki listened to stirring words from Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, martial music rang in their ears and patriotic songs filled the air for two hours, interspersed by the numbers of the always excellent program of the popular playhouse.

The soldiers were the guests of Manager Gill, who reserved the whole of the lower floor for their seating, while the regular patrons of the theater packed the balcony and galleries, enjoying every minute of the unusual program. In the boxes were seated the officers of the regiment and of the Dragoons and the mothers and sweethearts of the soldiers.

The theater was beautifully decorated for the occasion of the boys' departure. National colors everywhere being in evidence. The interior decorations were contributed by the Hudson's Bay company.

Long before the time for the curtain to rise the boys were seen, having marched from headquarters to the music of the 101st Regiment band. They quickly filled the seats allotted to them and for 15 minutes, while waiting for the performance to commence they gave vent to their patriotic enthusiasm by singing "Rule Britannia," "O Canada," "The Maple Leaf," "Daisy Gray," and other songs as the spirit of the occasion inspired. It was a scene from the time the curtain rose until it fell on "The Making of the Flag," that will long be remembered, not only by the boys in brown, but by the hundreds of friends who gathered to bid them good bye.

While the entire excellent program was fully appreciated, and every word of the boys' departure was a source of pride to the audience, the 101st Regiment made the hit of the evening with their song, "They're on Their Way to Germany." The boys sang with vigor and again and the singers generously responded. A farewell in verse, by Albert Weaver, Western, which was thrown on the screen, was received with cheers which resounded and reached to the very dome of the structure.

At the close of the vaudeville features Hon. C. R. Mitchell rose and gave the sentiment of the citizens of Edmonton on the eve of departure, was introduced by Joseph Mitchell, who referred to the splendid mission of loyalty which the soldiers have pledged themselves to perform, paying a fitting tribute to Colonel Saunders and Colonel Osborne.

Mr. Mitchell said in part: "This is a time of seriousness, and although many of you are going away with high hopes and for the first time on such a mission, there are some who do not fully realize the dangers and responsibilities. There are some of you who have stood the test and have been through the fire before, coming back to resume the ordinary avocations of life, and who are again to take up arms for the honor of the empire. You are going to do a duty the same as those who went to prior conflicts, and I am sure that the glory of the empire and the pride of Canada is safe in your hands."

"While there is much gaiety and excitement incident to the mustering of soldiers, there is also a serious side. Why it is that England has deemed it her duty to call you to arms? For years she has had a certain pride in seeing that justice was done to her neighboring countries, and the time has come when she is compelled to offer the protection which she has pledged in years gone by."

"In the twinkling of an eye a war has been brought about and England has called on you to do your part. You are going with a will to help the mother institution. You will be expected to live up to that degree of honor which England has established for her army. You are stepping into the breach and doing the great duty for those behind, and you will remember that it should be necessary to raise another army those to whom you have been in parting words tonight will be ready to take your places if occasion require. We all feel that what we have in at stake. The prosperity of the country is at stake. Bank credits have been firm and confidence has been maintained. Little disturbed. No one ever questioned the credit of England or of Canada, but now, for the first time, you feel that your families, friends and personal possessions are not safe. You are called to do a duty which will swell hearts as soldiers of the king you will do your duty and do it willingly, upholding the traditions of the British army."

Mr. Mitchell outlined the causes which led to the present war and read to the assembled soldiers the message of the Union Jack in plain language in position to form the flag. The work was greeted with wild enthusiasm, and the boys sang to the music of the orchestra. In patriotic airs, brought the occasion of farewell to the nation's defenders to a close.

BANK OF ENGLAND LENDING MILLIONS OF POUNDS DAILY

Much Criticism in Financial Circles of Joint Stock Banks

GERMANS TRY FINANCE WITH ENGLISH MONEY

Got Their Bills Accepted in Neutral Countries—Were Then Sent to London.

London, Aug. 22.—There is much criticism in financial circles of the policy of the joint stock banks which have discontinued all business except the acceptance of deposits and payments on cheques.

The Statute says the bank of England is to discount and lend at the rate of 5,000,000 pound daily. In ten days the bank has added to the available resources of the London money market the immense sum of 50,000,000 pounds, which is more than half the estimated amount of bills discounted in London in a similar period under ordinary circumstances.

The paper continues that the joint stock banks are putting off customers and lending and discounting on only minute scale, while the great dealers in bills, other than the banks, are practically on a strike.

The answer of the banks is that they hold a great amount of Austrian and German acceptances which cannot be cashed. The bank of England's staff is working nearly all night, mails being eaten in the bank. Many wealthy men with securities worth many thousands in their safes are pressed for cash.

The Statute states that German banks have been trying to finance German trade with English money. In a clever way they get German bills accepted in Amsterdam and other neutral places and then send them to London where they may be cashed with ease. The bills are sent to London with the hope that they may be cashed there. The bills are sent to London with the hope that they may be cashed there.

CERTAIN IS LEFT ON OPERATIONS AT FRENCH FRONTIER

Story of Capture of Mulhausen by French Allowed to Pass Censors—Victors Now Occupy Strategic Position to Follow up Success in Direction of Colmar.

(Capital Lease Wire) London, Aug. 22.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from its Paris correspondent says:

"The battles of Mulhausen and Altkirch lift the curtain for the first time on the operations of the two chief belligerents. The losing of a position and its recapture in a war so colossal is merely an episode which serves to indicate the strength and weakness of the opposing forces. The strategy which enabled us to retake Mulhausen was as follows:

"We knew from aviators that the Germans had between the French frontier and Mulhausen a comparatively small force, and that the major part of their army was massed on its right bank of the Rhine. With this knowledge our objective in the attack was to cause them to fall back, we obtaining control of bridges on the Rhine to enable us to repulse a counter attack if it should come on the right bank.

"The Germans installed artillery and earthworks. The attack was brilliant and successful as the Germans were strongly fortified our success was also a valiant deed. The enemy suffered heavy losses but the night was too dark for our cavalry to be offered proceeding our cavalry was obliged to abandon active pursuit.

"As the enemy's retreat had not been cut off, they made good their escape, hiding in the forest over a space 18 miles in length. Our troops entered Mulhausen at night was falling, to the acclamation of the people, who joyfully fed our soldiers. Mulhausen was difficult to defend against a force coming from the north or east, and was relatively easy to retake.

"The Germans attacked our positions that same night, coming from the west on the right and Neu Breisch on the left, while other troops marched in the direction of Germany. We met our retreat from there. German is on the Thur river, southeast of Thann. Our staying in Mulhausen with comparatively weak force we risked losing our line of retreat to the heights of the Vosges. Therefore, it was thought wise to attack the enemy marching toward Germany and utilize our reserves when a rally was necessary. Our left was being attacked toward Germany by a superior force. Our center was engaged at Mulhausen and our right was forced to remain inactive. The battle was going against us. Retreat was the only solution, as the enemy was not prepared to give up the heights of Alsace without a struggle and had brought up a large force for its defense.

"Our object was to take up a new base in the shelter of Belfort. The enemy suffered severely from our artillery. Their howitzer battery caused us much trouble. Accordingly General Pau determined to give battle while the enemy seemed inclined rather than to continue the skirmishing.

CITY BUSINESS IS LESS IMPORTANT THAN THEIR OWN

Quorum Fails to Appear for Special Meeting of the Council.

MAYOR HANDS ROAST TO DELINQUENT ALDERMEN

Matter of Giving Employment to Hundreds of Men is Blocked.

Only three members of the city council, Aldermen East, Shepard and May, appeared at the special meeting which was to have been held on Friday afternoon to take up several matters of vital importance, and in consequence the meeting was adjourned until next Tuesday night.

The special meeting had been called to hear a recommendation of the city commissioners that either they or the special committee appointed to devise ways and means of filling the city streets the present period of financial stringency for the special meeting, before the meeting was adjourned until next Tuesday night.

The matter of the Tramways, limited, which is up to the council to authorize the alteration of the agreement, has been hanging fire for several weeks and has been on the agenda every week. It was on the agenda last night, but the special business, but will be carried over for the next meeting, with probable continuation. But for the laxity of the council the agreement could have been placed in effect several weeks ago and from 500 to 500 men would now be employed in building the road from the village of Naino to the city limits. It is deferred for the longer the work cannot be started this year. The company has the funds on hand to push the work to completion.

GENERAL MOBILIZATION TO BE PROCEEDED WITH

Paris, Aug. 22.—A general mobilization in Italy has been decided upon and will be proceeded with three or four days, according to a message which the Rome correspondent of the Ecclaire succeeded in announcing through his paper. The correspondent asserts that King Victor Emmanuel will recently felt obliged to renounce all idea of Italian intervention in the conflict, but was won over by the arguments of his ministers. Minister of foreign affairs, Marquis Antonio Di San Giuliano, alone of the cabinet held to a contrary opinion.

De Palma Wins Race. Elgin, Ill., Aug. 21.—The veteran, Ralph De Palma, in a Mercedes, won the Elgin road race today, doing the 391 miles in 4:05:10-1-10.

"By resolution about two weeks ago the city council referred the city commissioners of their duties of the financial management of affairs and tied the hands of the commissioners as far as dealing with the city's financial emergency. You can all see how the members of the city council have performed their duty in this regard. It is a conclusion as to how much attention the city council has given to the affairs of the city. The city council has been abolished as some of the members of the council have suggested. All these matters which were to have been considered today are of great importance and they must not be deferred because the members of the council do not deem the meeting of sufficient importance to attend."

GENERAL MOBILIZATION TO BE PROCEEDED WITH

Paris, Aug. 22.—A general mobilization in Italy has been decided upon and will be proceeded with three or four days, according to a message which the Rome correspondent of the Ecclaire succeeded in announcing through his paper. The correspondent asserts that King Victor Emmanuel will recently felt obliged to renounce all idea of Italian intervention in the conflict, but was won over by the arguments of his ministers. Minister of foreign affairs, Marquis Antonio Di San Giuliano, alone of the cabinet held to a contrary opinion.

De Palma Wins Race. Elgin, Ill., Aug. 21.—The veteran, Ralph De Palma, in a Mercedes, won the Elgin road race today, doing the 391 miles in 4:05:10-1-10.

"By resolution about two weeks ago the city council referred the city commissioners of their duties of the financial management of affairs and tied the hands of the commissioners as far as dealing with the city's financial emergency. You can all see how the members of the city council have performed their duty in this regard. It is a conclusion as to how much attention the city council has given to the affairs of the city. The city council has been abolished as some of the members of the council have suggested. All these matters which were to have been considered today are of great importance and they must not be deferred because the members of the council do not deem the meeting of sufficient importance to attend."

The matter of the Tramways, limited, which is up to the council to authorize the alteration of the agreement, has been hanging fire for several weeks and has been on the agenda every week. It was on the agenda last night, but the special business, but will be carried over for the next meeting, with probable continuation. But for the laxity of the council the agreement could have been placed in effect several weeks ago and from 500 to 500 men would now be employed in building the road from the village of Naino to the city limits. It is deferred for the longer the work cannot be started this year. The company has the funds on hand to push the work to completion.

TIME THE VITAL ELEMENT IN THE EUROPEAN WAR.

Although pretty effectively screened by the censor, the despatches covering the progress of the war in Europe make it plain that the Germans are steadily progressing across Belgium and hope to enter France in its north-eastern corner, that the Austrians are coming to the assistance of Germany in such force as to engage the French at the southern end of the 250-mile line, and that the Russians are coming into Prussia from the east with an immense army which should sweep across Germany with irresistible force. The thing thus becomes a race. Will France, Great Britain and Belgium be able to hold the German and Austrian forces back on the French frontier until the Russians get into the heart of Germany and strike Berlin; or will the Germans be able to hold the Russians until the Kaiser's war machine crashes its way through to Paris and has time to wheel clear across the map to meet the Russians.

It will probably take weeks to tell. The great battle on the French frontier has yet not commenced, so far as the despatches indicate, and this battle certainly will not be a matter of hours, but may be of weeks, or even months. How many men are engaged the despatches do not say, nor what the effect of the various losses and wins as the armies waver backward and forward. But recent war makes it evident that the result will be some considerable time in doubt, and that even with a general victory for either side in engagement the final result will be by no means certain. At the greatest modern battle, Muiden, which was carried forward on a line more than 60 miles in length, continuous fighting lasted 16 days, and even then the result was not sufficiently decisive for the Japs to follow up what was described as a general rout of the Russians. Beside the great battle now in progress in Belgium and along the French frontier, the Muiden affair sinks into miniature and all comparisons must be enlarged.

If it should transpire, however, that in this battle the Germans and Austrians are driven back, or even held in check, it may be safely concluded that the finish is in sight for the Kaiser and all that he represents. With the Germans stopped or on the defensive, the end might not come for many months, possibly for years, but it would be inevitable. At this juncture time is the vital element, and in respect of time Germany is already behind her schedule. When they should have been in Paris, according to the German plan, the soldiers of Germany are not yet in France. But the Russians are into Prussia. If the Kaiser's army can be held long enough on the French frontier, or even between there and Paris, they will never get back to Berlin.

Such an outcome would lead to the fulfillment of Napoleon's prophecy: "Europe all republican or all Cossack," with the odds in favor of the former.

THE PASSING OF "THE PEOPLE'S POPE."

By the death of Pope Pius X. one of the noblest personalities of the century and one of the world's most beautiful characters has passed away.

To him the greatest tribute that could have been paid was tendered unconsciously by the world when, by popular consent, he was called "the people's pope." Notwithstanding that his own great talents and a combination of most happy circumstances led him from humble position to that of head of the greatest religious organization of all the ages, Pius to the last retained the kindness of soul which placed him in rapport with the struggling millions who constituted his enormous flock. The very story of his passing out makes it plain that the consuming sympathy which was the keynote of his whole existence brought the tragedy of afflicted Europe to his bedside and laid upon his frail body and kindness of spirit greater sorrow than he could bear. To him, with the world literally at his feet, with all the pomp and prodigality at his command, with princes and kings seeking the favor of his court, the purple and crimson of rank and circumstance held less of appeal than the simple annals of the poor. Just as his sister remained the dressmaker and a brother the village postmaster, he remained to the last the unaffected parish priest with an outlook on life based on simple-hearted humanitarianism.

It is not necessary to embrace the faith of which he was the embodiment or to endorse the institution of which he was the head to realize that at this time the world has need of such men as Pope Pius in the seats of the mighty. In him humanity had a friend at court. His passing is a universal loss.

AGRICULTURE AND FINANCE IN TIME OF WAR.

According to the most reliable estimates, the three western provinces this year will harvest 172,000,000 bushels of wheat, 210,000,000 bushels of oats, 47,000,000 bushels of barley and 10,700,000 bushels of flax. The number of hogs, cattle and sheep on the farms in Western Canada is undoubtedly greater this year than ever before, and, except in some districts, they are in better condition. Southern Alberta, southwestern and northwestern Saskatchewan have been hit very badly by the drought, and in large sections the crop will yield nothing at all. But in practically the whole of Alberta north of Calgary the crop condition is excellent. All danger from frost is now past, the grain is coming along beautifully in the clear, warm weather of the past few days, and where harvesting is not already general it will be within the next week or ten days. War prices for all products will prevail and the value of the crops per acre for one hundred miles around Edmonton promises to be the greatest in history, while the aggregate return for the whole of the west, notwithstanding the failure of some districts, promises to be considerably above the aggregate of any past year.

Upon any basis of crop values, most especially as far as the Edmonton district is concerned, there is absolutely no grounds whatever for pessimism. On the contrary, the outlook is exactly the opposite. In the face of this, we find business impaired by almost a total disappearance of credit.

If Canada's financial fabric could stand the shock of an European war as well as Canada's agricultural industry promises to sustain the credit of the country in the face of it, this country would be enjoying an unprecedented boom at the present time. The present difficulty arises out of the fact that Canada's financial institutions, to which all things else have been subverted, is not equal to the occasion.

PAIN CONSTANTLY TORTURED HIM

Student Became So ill, He Was Forced To Leave Berthier College. Suffered For Two Years Until Cured By Wonderful "Fruit-a-tives" Tablets.

MAGLOIRE PAQUIN, ESQ.

St. Boniface de Shawinigan, Feb. 2nd, 1914.
 "It is a pleasure to me to inform you that after having suffered from Chronic Constipation for 2½ years, I have been cured by the use of 'Fruit-a-tives'." While I was a student at Berthier College, I became so ill that I was forced to leave College. Severe pains across the intestines constantly tortured me and it came to a point when I could not sleep down at all. At times, I was to be for three or four days without a single motion of the bowels, and I became so sick that my digestion became paralyzed. Some of the advice me to take "Fruit-a-tives" and at once noticed a great improvement. After I had taken four or five boxes, I realized that I was completely cured."

Many famous physicians have stated that fully 95% of the cases of Kidney Trouble, Pain In The Back, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Appendicitis, Nervousness, Headaches, Typhoid Fever, Rheumatism and Neuritis, are found in people who habitually suffer from Chronic Constipation. BRUSSEL'S WAR IMPOST IS FORTY MILLION DOLLARS

Intention of the Enemy to Invade France Must Be Still Longer Delayed

London, Aug. 22.—The Daily Mail's
Ostend correspondent says:
 The Germans are overrunning northern Belgium. They are now believed to be within striking distance of Ostend.

Fifty thousand German soldiers have marched through Brussels and are now in Ghent.

London, Aug. 22.—Very little has yet become known of the operations of the early part of the week which put the German army between the Belgian forces and the French and enabled the Germans to occupy Brussels. It is supposed the Germans must have brought up very strong forces behind their cavalry screens and that a severe battle must have been fought to compel the Belgians to abandon Brussels and retire on Antwerp.

Whether or not the French forces are engaged with the Belgians is not known.

No information is available as to whether the Germans now intend to devote themselves to the task of reducing Antwerp or to an endeavor to force their way southward into France.
It seems, however, that the determination to attack the Belgian coast of some 150,000 men, who are still in or near Antwerp. The Germans already are advancing in the direction of Ghent.
They have occupied Alost, fifteen miles north of Brussels, and Wetteren, eight miles south of Ghent, and are prepared to overrun the whole of northwestern Belgium to the sea.

Cavalry posts have been seen as far as Mechlin (Malines), fourteen miles southeast of Antwerp, and it may be expected before long to hear that the Germans have occupied Ghent and Bruges and possibly even Ostend.

If, however, that is their intention,
a clear invasion of France through
Belgium must be still longer delayed.
The German general has imposed war impost of forty million dollars on the city of Brussels.

The Adventures of Kathlyn

By Harold McGrath.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Kathlyn Hare, believing her father, Col. Hare, dead, has summoned her, leaving her home in California to go to him in Alaska. India, India, she is presented to the throne of that principality, an imprisoned prince, because of the late king's son, her, because he fears the American may claim the throne.

Upon her arrival in Alaska Kathlyn is informed by Umbalash that her father being dead, she is to be queen and marry his fourth son. Because of her refusal she is sentenced to undergo two ordeals with wild beasts.

John Bruce, an American and fellow-passenger on the boat which brought Kathlyn to Alaska, saves her life. He is sentenced to death for having helped her. The scene of her trials becomes tragical and she is thrown into the hands of her captors.

Kathlyn takes refuge in a ruined temple, but her father is seen the above of a boat and she is forced to flee from it. She finds a band of a kind of cave traders, who take her to Alaska to the public market. She is sold to Umbalash, the Indian prince still unimpaired, throws her into the dungeon with her father.

John Bruce and his friends effect the release of Kathlyn and the colonel and the fugitives are given shelter in the palace of the king.

Supplied with canoes and servants by the most hospitable prince, the party endeavors to reach the coast, but is overpowered by a band of friends and the encounter results in the colonel being delivered to Umbalash. Kathlyn and John Bruce escape from their captors and return to Alaska, where Kathlyn her father, while nominally king, is really a prisoner.

MANY INDUSTRIES IN OPERATION ON EDMONTON SITE

Commissioner Harrison Compiles Statistics Showing 125
Manufactories Here.

INCLUDE LINES FROM
BREAD TO BRASSWORK

Map Showing Location of Concerns to Form Portion of Exhibit at Calgary.

There are 125 manufacturing industries, embracing 44 lines, according to a compilation just completed by Commissioner Harrison. On a huge map hanging on the wall of the commissioner's office appear the different industries and the location of each. This map, together with several sets of civic plans and statistics relative to Edmonton and city planning were sent to the Alberta Town Planning and Housing convention which was recently held in Calgary.

The list of industries as compiled by Commissioner Harrison is as follows: Aerated water, etc.; 3; boxes, etc.; 2; brass foundry; 1; bread and cakes; 6; brewers and malters; 2; bricks; 6; cigars; 4; clothing; 2; concrete blocks, etc.; 2; confectionery; 1; creamery; 3; excelsior; 1; foundry and machine shops; 6; gravel; 1; harness and saddlery; 2; ice; 2; jewelers; 6; mattresses; 2; millers; 4; glass; 1; packing plants; 4; photo engravers; 2; plaster ornaments; 1; printers and publishers; 15; rubber stamps; 1; shoes; 1; sheet metal works, etc.; 4; stone works; 2; street paving; 1; tanneries; 2; vinegars; 3; playing; 1; boats, motor, etc.; 4; furriers; 1; maps; 2; lenses and eyeglasses; 1; auto works; 2; cabinet makers; 1; paper boxes; 1; fence and wire works; 1.

Commissioner Harrison has written the managers of the various concerns asking information concerning the number of employees and the exact amount of the weekly payrolls. "Edmonton is growing rapidly and the increase in manufacturing industries is a source of gratification to those interested in the city's growth. The various development committees that have been active in the city's behalf are largely responsible for this satisfactory state of affairs, and those men are to be heartily commended."

THE BACKBONE OF EDMONTON MUST BE ITS INDUSTRIES

Manufacturing industries are the backbone of any business community, both because they provide the payrolls and because they place wares within reach of the consumer at prices far below those obtaining where goods must be shipped in and handled several times by middlemen. In manufacturing industries Edmonton is specially favored, and their big payrolls are what give stability to every line of endeavor in the city.

The history of some of these industries gives a comprehensive idea of what pluck and business training will do and how important a small beginning may become when conditions so shape themselves that large volumes of wares are needed.

JACK JOHNSON CAN BE DRAFTED INTO FRENCH ARMY-IS CITIZEN THERE

Imagine Big Champion With Canteen Slung Across His Shoulder, Beating Time to Drum and Marching to War—Negro Doubtless Will Find Fast Difference Between Padded Mitts and Leaden Bullets Before He Goes Far.

By Harry Bullen.

Now that France has been drawn into the big powers of Europe, pugilism is in danger of losing one of its leading lights.

Strange as it may seem to the average prize ring follower, the fact remains that Jack Johnson is liable to draft in the French army, and under pressure he can be made to shoulder a musket in the defence of France's national pride and protection.

Not so very long ago Johnson fled from America to evade federal authorities in Chicago and made tracks for a climate in Europe admittedly more healthful for his freedom. In London, his first stopping place, fair sentiment towards Jack grew to be extremely harsh, until finally, for the sake of peace of soul and mind, the black giant crossed the English channel into France.

Did We Regret It?

Always a wonder at creating publicity for himself, Johnson, partly to "make America regret that she used him roughly" and partly because he loves to read newspaper comments about him, Jack Johnson, the convicted white slaver swore allegiance to the French flag and became a citizen of that country.

Now picture Jack Johnson in the military brown of France, with a tin slung across his shoulder beating time to a drum and marching to war. If Johnson realizes the situation fully it is worth a fortune to know what is passing through his bullet head at this particular time.

You can draw mental pictures of Jack, whose wealth from activities in the prize ring is spent freely for best wines and high sounding food, munching on hard tack and mauling his throat with common water from canteen customarily found hanging between the shoulders of a soldier in the ranks. Where is the golden smile, the self assertion and extremely ill-bred manners which drove him to a position where he had to leave his native country?

Guarding Sea Coasts.

Sea coasts of every country involved in the present controversy are being guarded to prevent able-bodied men from fleeing to less warlike spots. Thus far France has not resorted to such drastic measures, yet conditions which prevail are sufficiently serious to cause a general call for men to strengthen the army, and Johnson is subject to it.

What a splendid target the massive body and shining black head of the negro champion would make! Like the weakest of his sex, too, there wouldn't be any blinking about a winner's or loser's. Referees don't count in a game of that kind, nor you'll fight or run like your finish. Because he is big and strong, John Arthur Johnson could be put in the front ranks and if he fell somebody, if the time could be spared, might cart him off the field or use a spade on the spot.

Would Like to be Back.

Facing a crisis like this, we wonder how Johnson would like to be back in America, where peace reigns and federal prison doors are yawning for him. What is the risk of running a "Jap" imprisonment in the United States compared to chancing several billions of stray bullets from guns in the hands of a lot of crazy men waiting to take a pot shot at anybody who doesn't duck his cranium?

Who would be the next champion if Johnson went to war might create arguments also. There are too many of these controversies now to suit the average ring follower, and as Sherman said war would be hell. Jack's been such a lucky cuss, however, that the odds are he would live through it all and see the day they will build his

SONS OF ENGLAND AND SWIFTS PLAY DRAW GAME 1 TO 1

City Championships Decided, Charity Shield Games Will Be Next.

Swifts and Sons of England played to a draw, 1-1, in one of the last senior soccer games of the season, last evening on the old exhibition grounds. The Sons scored first in the initial period, via Ockendon, and in the second half Ockendon evaded up the score, which remained unchanged to the limit.

The next big games will be for the Charity shield and the provincial championship games. Callies are senior for city champions and the Edmonton Welsh have the honors in the intermediate division.

The Callies are likely to be ordered to meet Lloydminster in the first round of the Bennett shield games at an early date. Calgary Callies play in the southern part of the province Medicine Hat and Lethbridge clash. It would not be surprising if these old rivals, the Callies of Edmonton and Calgary, meet in the finals.

According to unofficial information there are eight teams entered for the Charity-Shield competition, the gross gate receipts of which go to local charities. The Callies, Sons of England, Sons of Scotland and Swifts from the senior division, and the Edmonton Welsh, St. Paul's, Edale Press and City Dairy from the intermediate league, are the entries, necessitating quite a long draw before the ownership of the shield is definitely decided.

The line-up in last night's game was as follows:

Sons of England—Denson, Gillespie, Aston, J. Jennings, Farrant, Clibbery, Bradford, Gregory, Ockendon, Coward and Redford.

Swifts—Stockdale, Riggs, Moffat, Prendergast, McCurdy, Warner, Cuff, Ockendon, Hampton, Holland and Diamond.

Referee—Jas. Caldwell.

LABOR DAY SPORTS AT CALGARY HAVE A FINE LIST OF EVENTS

Already 60 Entries Have Been Received—Edmonton Athletes Are Expected to go South and Make Annual Clean-up—Large Number of Handsome Prizes Offered in All Events—Five-a-side Soccer and Tug-of-war.

Edmonton athletes who intend to take part in the annual Labor Day sports at Calgary on Sept. 7 are advised to forward their entries to the sports director at once. Entry blanks may be secured at the Y.M.C.A. or entry form may be made without the regular form. The sports this year embrace a wider range than ever before. The full A.A.U. card has been included, and if there is sufficient demand for extra events, they will be arranged and points accepted. The half-mile was left off the regular list this year, but so many requests have been made that this event be included that the committee has decided to accede to these requests.

The sports are again in charge of A. H. Beckett and the local athletes who competed at Calgary last Labor Day—and incidentally swept away all the best prizes—can be assured of the best of treatment.

Where no special prizes have been donated by the merchants, the committee has arranged for a handsome set of medals, gold for first place, silver for second and bronze for third. These medals have been specially designed for the Trades and Labor A.A. and are very attractive.

The important additions to the events this year are the five-a-side soccer and the open tug-of-war. Last year the tug-of-war was restricted to their part only. Summary: 2:30 p.m.—Jim Hill won; Dean Swift second; Scarlett Trent, third. Time, 2:18K.

Free-for-all—College Gent. won; Homer Mack, second; no third. Time, 2:19K. One mile dash—Luke Van Zandt, won; Alty J., second; Col. Warwick, third.
